

LogoPutter had the answer...

At LogoPutter, we take pride in giving our college and corporate clients not only a great looking custom logo, but also a quality putter for that logo to be placed on.

That is the founding premise of our company. We did years of research to ensure we were giving our customer a putter that would clearly represent their brand while making lots of putts.

We recently had a client who was looking to put together a surprise gift for her husband's golf group. Sixteen of them were heading out of town to celebrate a 40th birthday. She was looking for something that would impress these serious golfers and commemorate this important event. She, like many, was not affiliated with a school or business and did not have a logo. What to do, she was not the first customer to love the feel of the putter on the green, but not have a school or business to represent on the putter. That's when we came up with the "BTB" or Be The Ball logo and the clients really love the look.

For additional branding, this putter has plenty of space on the bottom to engrave a message. We engraved a special message for this client and, needless to say, it was a big hit with the group and a great reminder of a terrific week of golf and friendship.

If you're looking for that unique golf gift for a client, alum or golf group, LogoPutter can have your putters to you in less than two weeks from the time you place your order.
